

Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade

Region	Location	Population (Millions)
Brazil	South America	4.9
British Caribbean	Caribbean	2.3
French Caribbean	Caribbean	1.6
Spanish America	South and Central America	1.6
Dutch Caribbean	Caribbean	0.5
British North America/ United States	North America	0.4

Here's a list of some specific countries and the main work the enslaved people did in each location:

- Brazil: Most slaves went here. They worked on sugar and coffee farms, and in mines.
- British Caribbean: Slaves went to islands like Jamaica, Barbados, and the Bahamas. They worked on sugar farms and grew crops like tobacco and cotton.
- French Caribbean: Slaves went to islands like Haiti, Guadeloupe, and Martinique. They worked on sugar farms and grew coffee and indigo.
- Spanish America: Slaves went to countries like Mexico, Colombia, and Peru. They worked on farms, in mines, and as servants.
- Dutch Caribbean: Slaves went to islands like Curaçao, Aruba, and Saint Maarten. They worked on sugar and tobacco farms, and in salt production.
- United States: Slaves mostly went to the southern states. They worked on cotton, tobacco, and rice farms, and as servants and skilled workers.

Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade

Questions

Use information from the text to support your answer

1) Where did most of the slaves go to? What did they do there?

---

---

2) Did a high percentage of the slaves go to Canada?

---

---

3) Where did more slaves go – USA, Canada, Caribbean, Brazil, South/Central America?
How do you think that affected who lives there now?

---

---

---

Mapping

Draw a map showing the Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade

